

MySite – Project Plan

This Document defines the plans for this website.

1. Overview

There will be at least two releases. Release 1 is the initial Bread Board Release. If this release is successful, then there will be a second Release 2, which will be the one that will be serviceable & maintainable.

2. Release 1

The goal of this release is to determine feasibility. In the old days it was called “Breadboarding”. Building a circuit on a breadboard to see if it worked. It ends up being a journey through a dark and densely wooded forest, bumping in trees, until you give up, or reach the other side. Release 1 was considered a success on January 1, 2018. The journey started August, 2016. I’ve been in the forest for 1 ½ years and found the other side. Now the hard part starts. Doing things, the right way.

3. Release 2

This release will be a total redo all documentation and coding. Requirements have stayed basically the same, as does the Architecture.

Release 2 will be a Phased Release, in order to prove correctness of each phase, before moving on to the next phase. Each Phase will have two Stages. Stage 1 will be tested in the localhost environment. Stage 2 will be tested in a https: server environment. All testing up to System Test will be done with the same testbed folder structure that was used in the initial Release 1 System Test.

4. Phase I – DOM Correctness

The 6 web pages to be implemented and tested for correctness. Items to be tested:

- Page Layouts Correctness
- Style Sheet Correctness
- Flow Control Correctness

5. Phase II – Photo & Video Correctness

A pre-setup of the Photos & Videos folder structure will be used test the flow of the code used to display Photos & play Videos.

Again, testing will be done on both the localhost and server environments.

6. Phase III – CloudRail Correctness

The Download function will be tested initially in the OneDrive environment. Then it will be tested in the Drive, DropBox, and Box Cloud Services.

7. Phase IV – System Test

The test consists of the following environments:

- JanetAndPat.com
- MySite10.com
- WintersvilleHS.com

8. Schedules

This is the best part of this Project Plain. Since I am not reporting to anyone, and doing this one my own, and there is no Deadline date, there is no schedule. It will occur at whatever pace I want.
