Bio I worked one year at Mr. Wiggs department store (remember them?) before starting college at Bowling Green. During school (math/computer science major), I interned at Owens Corning in Toledo. After graduation, I continued with them for 34 years in a variety of information systems roles before switching to internal audit to finish my career with them.

I met Rudi (from the Cleveland area) while at BGSU and we married in 1979. Two kids followed and we are blessed that they are still living in the area. Kerri gave us our first grandchild in early 2016 and named him Montgomery.

I picked up the sticks again about 25 years ago and started playing with a local community band. From there, I started playing more and more. Now, in retirement, I am kept busy as a free-lance drummer, playing in two community bands, one American Legion band, and playing in the "pit" for a number of high school and community theater productions.

One highlight is that I was able to make it back down to Wintersville to play in the alumni band for the home opener football game in 2017.

During college and through my work career, I also got into fitness and started teaching group exercise classes.

Upon retirement, I started working part-time at a local gym (Super Fitness) as a personal trainer while continuing to teach group classes. They even put me on TV to promote fitness and answer viewer questions on the subject. I am blessed to be able to take my two passions and turn them into post-retirement second careers.
